

CORBAN UNIVERSITY UPDATES

Your prayers and support continue to be a blessing to our students, our faculty, and our staff! We hope that you are encouraged by these updates and highlights of what is happening at Corban:

- We celebrated 309 graduates of the class of 2021 during our Commencement this May.
- Construction is well underway for our new Outdoor Athletic Complex on campus, which will serve our track and field, lacrosse, and soccer teams, as well as the general student body. It will also be a resource for the Salem community, expanding Corban's ability to host high school competitions, club practices, regional and state tournaments, youth camps, and community events.
- Five Corban students and staff traveled to L.A. for a mission trip over spring break.
- We have launched our Worldview Video Series, which you're invited to watch at connect.corban.edu/wvvs. This collection of discussions from our expert faculty shines a biblical light onto some of our current culture's most pressing concerns.
- Dr. Greg Trull and Dr. Sam Baker traveled to Uganda this spring to continue our pastoral training ministry. We ask for continued prayers for our service to the emerging Christian leaders in the heart of Africa.
- We will be welcoming our second group of Act Six students this fall, providing full scholarships and leadership training for another 10 emerging urban and community leaders who want to use their college education to make a difference on campus and in their communities at home.
- Corban's Center for Global Engagement has partnered with Universitas Pelita Haripan in Indonesia to create the SPH Online English Academy, an initiative to provide equitable English language learning opportunities to students throughout Indonesia.

MAKE A DIFFERENCE in the world for Jesus Christ.

"As a Christ-centered institution, our desire is to help students grow and mature and learn and develop, not just intellectually, but spiritually as well. We are committed to their spiritual transformation as part of their journey of higher education, particularly the ability to integrate every aspect of their life with the message of the gospel and biblical truth."

– Dr. Thomas Cornman, Provost
